Next week, on the 22nd inst., will be celebrated throughout New England and all the have been compelled to postpone work on account of the heavy Northern States, the 250th anniversary of the Landing of the Pilgrims on Plymouth Rock. During the late rebellion General Beauregard expressed an earnest desire to blow up that "Rock," Last Wednesday and Thursday, C. S. Bartow held a large for he had heard enough about it! It is still there, and as a symbol of much that is good in the civil and religious institutions of America, we trust it will remain forever. Quite a number of the descendants of the Pilgrim Fathers are here cordage, asserted sizes, 194@221 per pound; white cottons, on these islands. The then Government, (Mr. D. The schooner A. P. Jordan sailed from San Francisco for L. Gregg being Minister of Finance) frequently submitted to the Chamber of Commerce, for advice, questions relating to duties, and other matters pertaining to the commerce of the country. Such a policy of mutual confidence and consultation, cannot but be beneficial to all, and we hope to see it revived.

All our circumstances of position, soil and climate are such that we must depend on foreign commerce for a living. Questions have already arisen between the officials of the customs and merchants resulting in bad feeling, and which might have been obviated, had we a consulting body, known as a Chamber of Commerce. Another forcible argument in favor of such an institution is, that Bark Awashanks, Capt. Ariel Norton, of Mattapolsett, it would result in reconciling differences which sailed from New Bedford Oct. 19, 1870, for the North Pacific might arise between merchants, in business trans-

We believe that Mr. W. L. Green was its last elected President, and that Mr. crystalized sugar from beets, grown on the spot, has been taken from the centrifugals at the Alvarado mill. The home-made A. J. Cartwright still holds the office of Secretary. valedictory article, contained in the previous such supreme folly as to lay the fault of all the week's Gazette, which assumed that the whaling business of the Pacific was a thing of the past, and which bade a cheerful farewell to the portion of Mawaiian commerce dependent thereupon. The island business, we were virtually informed by that article, now rested on so firm and wide a basis in the form of sugar cultivation, that no further care need be devoted to any other branch of trade whatever. In other words, that the only transactions which should henceforth occupy the mercantile community here would be the shipment of sugar and molasses from the country. and the importing of light apparel for plantation

It would be foolish to shut our eyes to the very great importance of an industry which has already proved very profitable, and whose prospective advantages are in the direct ratio of the extent to which it can be carried on. But we are not thus stultified; we do not so obscure our vision. We assert that it is to the interest of commerce generally, of the sugar trade particu- ing the sword. With the Alabama claims yet larly, because it happens to be the largest branch unsettled and Fenianism only slumbering, she of our commerce, to maintain and encourage every business which can be lucratively carried on; and the worst enemies of sugar cultivation are, though they may not mean to be, those who would pursue it to the neglect of other business, or who would encourage it by placing other commerce at a disadvantage. Such a policy is indeed most blindfold, and if our criticism thereof be properly denominand "clap-trap," we are content to place so sensible a term at the head o.

business, formerly transacted here, formed the foundation of present activity. This is fact. The Europe would be either Cossack or Republican, merchandise and stores to a large and profitable extent, and from this source we have derived the capital which has developed a now very considerable agricultural industry. We are not indebted to foreign investors for very much of the money which has turned our marshes and upland plains into fertile sugar fields; most of the dollars so employed are the profits arising from trade with calling ships. It is in this respect that we even now enjoy an advantage over other countries, pos-FOR SAN FRANCISCO—Per North Star, Dec. 15th—Geo A Smith, Geo A Smith, Jr, Sam P Smith, Wm A Sandhourn, Capt Gray, Mr Hatfield, Mr Brunton, Mrs Brunton, Mr Wm Shaw, wife and 7 children, Andrew Stark—18. may share with us; we cannot help that; but the motive power, the vital breath of trade, is ours, and that is the circulation of capital. A large importing trade is of very high value to us. As long as we can exchange our own productions profitably for those of other countries, and in that proportion only, our commerce rests on an advantageous basis. Supposing that for a time the returns from our sugars exported should largely ex- Sea Boots, Rubber Boots, Oil Suits, ceed the imports we require, and consequently come back to us in eash; for a while doubtless the agriculture of the country would be greatly not wanted, or at least do not meet with a paying market; whilst beyond a certain point of quantity our island area will not yield. Consequently the profits of this industry would, in a very short time, assume the form of unemployed capital, and would presently leave the country " seeking." From that moment other sugar producing countries would gain the relative status with regard to us, which is at present denied them by their nonpossession of a general commerce, therefore an active capital, like our own.

want their business we may retain it. We do not hold a brief, as the Gazette suggests, for New Bedford owners; if the said owners are giving up the trade, as we are further warned by our cotemporary, it would hardly pay us to plead any longer. We speak simply in the interests of Hawaiian commerce, the sugar business most of all, basing our arguments upon the plainest principles of political economy.

United States Elections.

The Congressional elections for the Forty-Second Congress are nearly all over. Parties will stand about 158 Republicans to 90 Democrats. This will give the Republicans a majority of about sixty-three in Congress, which is a substantial endorsement of President Grant.

In the twenty months of Grant's Administration, which expired on the 3d of November, about one-twelfth part of the whole funded debt of the United States has been paid; all the Southern States, once in rebellion, have been reconstructed, and will raise this year four million bales of cotton, with free labor; and the rights of citizenship to all born on American soil has been made universal. These are proofs of pretty good statesmanship, and the people endorse them. Members of Congress chosen at these elections do not take their places until the 4th of next we have any dangerous rivals.

We have spoken so far on the assumption made by the Gazette, that the whaling traffic was suffering a decadence which would end in extinction. But we do not see much in existing affairs to justify such a view. In the very nature of things the recent fall in prices for oil is opposed by a decrease in the number of whalers at present cruising; and the fact that New Bedford is turning her attention to the manufacturing advantages ply to she possesses in the way of fuel, transport, and an immense market, enables her all the better to

By a fair inference we may expect that if we
